The proposed sale will contribute to the foreign policy and national security objectives of the United States by enhancing the capability of Egypt, a major non-NATO ally. Delivery of this weapon system will greatly enhance Egypt's interoperability with the U.S., making it a more valuable partner in an important area of the world, as well as supporting Egypt's legitimate need for its own self-defense.

The proposed sale will allow the Egyptian Air Force to modernize its aging air force by acquiring new fighter aircraft, thereby enabling Egypt to support both its own air defense needs and coalition operations. The country will have no difficulty absorbing this new capability into its armed forces.

The proposed sale of this equipment and support will not alter the basic military balance in the region.

The principal contractor will be Lockheed Martin Aeronautics Company in Fort Worth, Texas. The proposed sale also involves the following companies:

Lockheed Martin Missile and Fire Control	Dallas, Texas
Lockheed Martin Simulation, Training, and Support	Fort Worth, Texas
BAE Advanced Systems	Greenland, New York
Boeing Corporation	Seattle, Washington
Boeing Integrated Defense Systems (three locations)	St Louis, Missouri
	Long Beach, California
	San Diego, California
Raytheon Company (two locations)	Lexington, Massachusetts
Northrop-Grumman Electro-Optical Systems	Goleta, California
Northrop-Grumman Electronic Systems	Garland, Texas
Pratt & Whitney United Technology Company	Baltimore, Maryland
General Electric Aircraft Engines	East Hartford, Connecticut
Goodrich ISR Systems	Cincinnati, Ohio
L3 Communications	Danbury, Connecticut
ITT Defense Electronics and Services	Arlington, Texas
Symetrics Industries	McLean, Virginia
	Melbourne, Florida

There are no known offset agreements in connection with this proposed sale.

Implementation of this proposed sale will require multiple trips to Egypt involving U.S. Government and contractor representatives for technical reviews/support, program management, and training over a period of 15 years.

There will be no adverse impact on U.S. defense readiness as a result of this proposed sale.

This notice of a potential sale is required by law and does not mean the sale has been concluded.

Objective

Region

U.S. Readiness

Last Updated Version: M1

Line Item 001 - AMRAAM MISSILES, AIM-120C: This line provides for a total of 157 AIM-120C missiles all of which will be configured as tactical AMRAAM Air Vehicles (AAV) procured in Lot 16 with projected contract award in CY 2002 and deliveries in CY 2004-2005. A delivery schedule will be provided separately. Engineering Change Proposals (ECP) approved prior to and during production will be incorporated in all new production deliveries included within the production effectivity of the ECP. The missiles contain classified and explosive materials and will be shipped through the Defense Transportation System (DTS).

Note 2. Line Item Description - CAPTIVE AIR TRAINING MISSILES CATM -120C.

Last Updated Version: B

Line Item 002 - CAPTIVE AIR TRAINING MISSILES CATM-120C: This line provides for the procurement of up to 4 blunt-nose CATM-120C training missiles to be provided through new procurement.

Note 3. Line Item Description - CONTRACTOR INITIAL SUPPORT.

Last Updated Version: B

Line Item 003 - CONTRACTOR INITIAL SUPPORT: Included in this line are missile sections and components required to support section replacement in a section replacement facility or field maintenance backshop. The one set of sections consists of one guidance section, one control section, one warhead section, one rocket motor section, and other missile components, such as a data link, rectifier filter, wiring harness, harness cover, and exhaust nozzle.

Note 4. Line Item Description - WEAPON SYSTEM SUPPORT.

Last Updated Version: B

Line Item 004 - WEAPON SYSTEM SUPPORT: Contractor Logistics Support. This item provides for total AMRAAM weapon system support for three (3) years from 2004-2006. Three major activities are estimated. They are: (1) Technical program support, logistics management support, and engineering expertise. (2) Contractor Logistics Support (CLS), which provides for 3 one-year repair periods allowing the missile contractor's depot repair personnel to receive failed missiles or sections from the customer's inventory and to inspect, tear down, troubleshoot, repair, build up, test, and prepare repaired missiles for customer shipment. The estimate assumes 4 failures per year for each of the 3 years of CLS. The price is an estimate of the fixed cost of having a repair capability readily available and the variable cost associated with the labor and materials involved in each repair action. (3) Service Life Prediction Program (SLPP): This program will focus on identification and quantification of missile life limiting events, prioritized by impacts to safety, lethality, and endurance.
